The team held a Google Meet on October 16, 2024, which focused on the installation of Python and the Django framework, following a unanimous decision regarding the programming language and framework to be used. The team leader discussed the syntax required for the installation, which the team executed using the Command Prompt. The members then proceeded to create a project folder and an app folder via the Command Prompt, during which several auto-generated files, such as settings.py, urls.py, views.py, etc., appeared.

Lastly, the team leader assigned the members to prepare a research report on the generated files, focusing on their purposes and functions, which needs to be submitted by the end of the day for validation by the team leader
